A vote for Post is not needed by the Labor party. Its record will be made on Gronon. But a vote for Post will help the Bosses, en the Boodlers and defend the Machine Shall laboring men assist their enemies?

A vote for Post is a vote in the air. A vote for Fritows is a vote in the mud. But a vote for Nicola goes straight to the bull'seys of good government.

THE PARTY PETICH.

No truer words have been written in this anvass than are these from the Times :

It is the men who vote their strict party ticket because it is the party ticket, without reference to mences of his election, to whom the 'bosses' ted for all the power for evil they possess.

It is this worship of the party fetich-the habit of "standing by the party through thick and thin "-that gives to the supporters of FELLows their only hope.

Will men who really desire decent poliics and honest government vote on their judgments or by a heedless habit? Do they think more of regularity than of right? Do they value a label more than a man? Are they party serfs or free men?

To-morrow will tell. The man who votes against what he knows to be for the best public interest is unworthy of the suffrage. He deserves to be bossed, browbeaten and robbed.

TWO COMPESSIONS.

Col. FELLows confesses that he received 8528 from Tween on Feb. 1, 1871, the day after the disagreement of the first jury that published card.

Mr. Tween confessed to Gov. Robinson in a written statement made in jail as the basis of an application for pardon, that he paid, among other items, " $500 to JOHN. R. PELLOWS, July 11, 1871." On Saturday Col. FELLows said the $523 was all the money he ever received of Twend. To different reporters he had before said that "Twend was an old friend of mine and had helped me out before." On Sunday Twarp's schedule showed another payment.

And now, voters, in the memorable language of the Boss: "What are you going to do about it?"

If you want to serve notice upon all public offals NOT to be honest, NOT to serve the people, WOT to prosecute thieves, vote against NICOLL.

THEY ORIECT TO PACTS.

Of all the miserable twaddle that ever marked the defense of a bad cause the whine that Col. FELLows has been "abused," and is therefore entitled to sympathy, is the

Nothing but paors-proven or confessed truth-have been printed about Mr. FELLOWS in this canvass. We challenge his supporters to point to one false charge.

When the people's prosecutor of thieves is to be chosen, is it not proper to show that a candidate nominated in defiance of the people's will was the beneficiary of Boss Tween's bounty? When the prosecutor of gamblers is to be elected, may it not be shown that this candidate was a confessed gambler and "welcher?" When an office is to be filled demanding independence and honor of a high degree, is it not s duty to the public to show that this candidate does not pay his debta, not because of "poverty," but because of reckless living?

Is character to be a tabooed subject in s political canvass? Out upon such false and sickly sentimentalism!

HE WOULD NOT "LET UP."

Mr. NICOLL substantiates in his card, pub. lished this morning, the statement of Two Wonep that a notorious crony of corruptionists and shielder of thieves sent to him to put off the trial of CLEARY," and promised "political and journalistic services" a bribe for betraying the people.

Mr. Kroozz's indignant refusal was couched in language more forcible than polite. Find. iday for public thieves?

ing that Nicona could not be induced to "let up," or be sent to Hot Springs, the friends of the rich Boodler went to work to fix" the jury, and a disagreement followed. So much for "Bilk." And for this NICOLL was "knifed." Will the people confirm the rination of an incorruptible servant?

A vote for Post is a vote thrown away and half a vote for FRILOWS.

EVERY CITIZEN'S DUTY. Let every friend of honest local government plan and prepare to-day to vote to-morrow. The debt of New York is enormous; its tax rate is high; its government is shamefully lax and bad in many departments; the streets are in a disgraceful condition; boodlers boodle and bribers bribe; the bosses rule and the people suffer, CHIEFLY BECAUSE FORTY THOU-and semi-criminals will, in desperate hope, await the returns to-morrow. Let the voice of New York be emphatic and decisive for the vindication of her law.

Labor men can show their strength by votes for GEORGE. Let them show their sincerity by votes for NICOLL.

THE CATHEDRAL PROJECT.

The purchase of a site for the $10,000,000 Episcopal Cathedral insures the active prosecution of a project for an architectural pile that can be spoken of in the same breath with the Brooklyn Bridge and the Liberty Statue.

New York's business palaces are unequalled, but her public buildings are for the most part unworthy of her. Not only can New York afford the very best of public structures, parks and streets, but they are a good investment. A Paris pays in France. Why not in America?

A city that is to be in the near future the metropolis of the world should set her standard high in all things. The cathedral project is a step in the right direction. Let us show the Europeans that we can surpass them even in the cathedral line.

A RELENTLESS DISSECTION.

Mr. Schuzz never used his keen scalpel more effectively than in his pitiless dissection of Mayor HEWITT's letter.

The ABBAM S. HEWITT of to-day must blush for very shame when put put face to face with the ABBAM S. HEWITT of the past, Mr. SCHURE tells him plumply that "you have taken a step which in its evil effects threatens to outweigh all the good you have done or may do during the rest of your official term." Both of these incidents show an unaccountable carelessness on the part of the jail authorities. The most matter-of-fact precautions should have rendered either occurrence atterly impossible. ENGEL's attempted suicide has no significance other than that the Anarchists have given up all hope of escape from the gallows. The discovery of bombs in Lange's possession has turned whatever popular sympathy existed into a demand for the rigorous enforcement of the law.

Mr. Nicona's point blank affirmation that Bilk Dorshumen tried to induce him to "put off the trial of Cleary," shows that the Herald knew what it was writing about when it said of Mr. NICOLL:

He re/used to yield to immmerable solicitation. to "let up" on the Aldermen of 1884, but pushed their cases until they had to clear out to Canada or go to Sing Sing. Therefore he is to be laid on the shelf. And the Herald is boosting the Bosses and Boodlers in their efforts to do it.

If the honest workingmen want to smash Boss-

THE WORLD is always first to print the usios. An extra of The Evening World, announcing that Anarchist Enger had taken poison, was for sale on the street to-day at 12.25. No other evening paper was in sight.

Numerous Descritons from the Man of Judgments Reported all Along the Line-Old Reference Fighting the Good Battle Once Again-De Lancey Nicell Enthusiastically Supported Irrespective of Party Ties.

THE MAN ROM the Battery to Harlem Bridge it is the common expression of citizens in every walk of life that John R. Fellows will be snowed under with ballots tomorrow. Indignation is expressed in unmeasured terms at the men who have offered the gratuitous insult of his candidacy to the PRINT People of this long-suffering, boss-ridden worrow's campaign will be inapped out the evening.

Mr. Nicoll was at the Citizens' Head-quarters at 10 a. m. He said he felt confident of success. From the information he was receiving he was certain that the people would elect him by a handsome plurality.

Mr. Nicoll feels very proud at the support given to him by workingmen. A large number of workingmen's organizations have indorsed him and are among his most enthusizatic supporters. ELANCEY NICOLL ments differ as men that the revelations made about Col. Fellows render it utterly impossible for hones men-men not led by any party string and not to be corralled by the snap of a party whip-to vote for the candidate forced upon the United Democracy by Boss Power and the Police Justices' ring.

"How can I vote for him, I, a Democrat. who voted for Benjamin K. Phelps in 1872 because the Democratic ring, of which Col. Fellows was a member, had refused to heed and his ringsters to justice?" said one gentleman. "Why, it is shown, and Col. Fellows admits, that Tweed was then his friend, and helped him out with his money! Is that the reason why, in spite of the facts unearthed in 1872 by the District-Attorney's office in which he was employed. Col. Fellows delivered countless eloquent speeches in Tweed's defense, insisting that he was an innocent and wronged man, when he must have known otherwise? If so, in view of the fact that Tom Cleary's proxy voted in the so-called convention for his nomination, thus showing Tom Cleary's "friendship" for him, what guarantee have we that Col. Fellows will not extend his defending hand to him and to the rest of the men who sold the city's honor and the most valuable franchise in the city to Jacob Sharp in 1884? I cannot vote for such a man. The facts confessed by Col. Fellows himself damn him in the eyes of honest men."

him."

In the flat house at Third avenue and Twenty-seventh street are four young men, equally divided in politics. The Republicans are of the strictest party stripe and declared that they would vote for Post, while the Democrats derided them for in this manner only half expressing their opposition to the idea of taking a candidate from the opposing party, suggesting that Col. Fellows should be elected by a majority which would effectually rebuke the Republicans. In taking up Democratic Nicoll. That was a week ago. But the exposure of Fellows's relations with Tweed, his written lie that he had never had any other money transaction with the biggest thief of the century, and finally his "welching" record, forced all four of the partisans into silence for a day. Then at first the young Republicans thought they "had the laugh" on the other two, but were met by them with a serious "Really, boys, this is no joking matter. We shall vote for your candidate as the strongest rebuke to Fellows and the County Democracy boss."

And to morrow all four will drop their bal-In the flat house at Third avenue and

And to-morrow all four will drop their bal-lots for De Lancey Nicoll, the personifica-tion of the people's movement for a clean ad-ministration of the affairs of the prosecuting attorney's office. For they know that Post's chances of election are not bright and they want no doubt about their rebuke.

PELLOWS NOT A FIT MAN. The disclosure concerning Fellows's visit of ten days to Montreal, where John Keenan and the other exiled boodle-handlers are stopping, last winter, strengthens the and the other exiled boodle-handlers are stopping, last winter, strengthens the belief among voters that he is not the man to prosecute the boodlers, and increase the suspicion which was born when he left this city with a doctor's cer-tificate in his pocket to sojourn at the Hot Springs until after the trial of Tom Cleary, whose proxy was "for him" at the nominat-ing conference. Tammany men, whose memory of Col.

Tammany men, whose memory of Col. Fellows's ever ready, pursuing and gratuitous abuse and vilification of John Kelly has been revived by reprints of his speeches, are not very hot in his behalf, to say the least; and thousands of Mr. Kelly's admirers will not be bound by the policy which caused Tammany's leaders to swallow that fearfully stale bit of crow, John Fellows, which the always insolent and insuitthat fearfully stale bit of crow, John Fellows, which the always insolent and insulting "Counties" forced upon them. They will come to the polls with their ballots in their vest pockets, and these will bear the name of the young man who has achieved all his prominence through his brilliant prosecution of Jachne, McQuade, O'Neil and Sharp in the place of the name of the man who received $500 from Tweed while his office was indicting the arch robber, and $523 more just after a jury had disagreed.

There are a host of dealers in jewelry, furniture, wines and other creature comforts who will place a De Lancey Nicoll paster over the name of John R. Fellows who through twenty years in New York, during which he has drawn a big salary from the city, has lived from $1,000 to $5,000 beyond his income at the expense of confiding

There are a host of other people who have

There are a host of other people who have no relish for men who, as receivers of the properties of widows and orphans, manage in some way to lose the property. They will vote for De Lancey Nicoll, whose character they have found to be so upright and honest that his opponents have been unable to point out to them a single short-coming, except and only that Mr. Nicoll likes his trousers to fit him, and prefers lawn-tennis to draw poker.

Even the men about town who play draw poker have "soured" on Col. Fellows since the exposure of his character as a "welcher," in which he repudiated a debt of $510 incurred to a friend who kindly permitted him to play his promise to pay, as if it were money, in order that he might stay in the game. They are disgusted, and they, too, will vote for Nicoll in preference, and are now offering odds of $100 to $80 that Nicoll will win to-morrow.

It is no sin to be poor. But when a man continues year after year to accumulate adverse judgments and live beyond a large salary it is considered evidence that there is something rotten in the State of Denmark. Col. Fellows, as Assistant District-Attorney under several administrations, drew $7,500 a year—rather more than average professional men can make—yet he has "hung

M., when the polls are closed and when the politicians know that the Labor party has cast over 50,000 votes, the betting on Nicoll will be 2 to 1. A well-informed man who was at the Hoffman House late last evening said: "Do you know that I think Fellows and Post will poll within 10,000 votes of each other? My candid opinion is that there won't be a difference of 10,000 in their votes. If my opinion should prove right Mr. Nicoll will have 20,000 plurality. I do not believe that Fellows, trading or no trading, can get the votes of 5,000 Republicans in this county. The Tammany Hall and County Democracy bosses will have to spend an immense boodle among their own followers. They cannot buy the organized Labor vote any more than they can buy the brown-stone vote.

It is expected that all sorts of campaign lies and tricks will be resorted to this afternoon and evening by the bosses and boodlers. Voters are cautioned against paying any attention to the eve-of-election canards.

The Riot at Pattersonville, La

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
PATTERSONVILLE, La., Nov. 7. —The true story of he riot which occurred Saturday seems to be as follows: Between 4 and 5 o'clock the Attakopa follows: Between 4 and 5 o'clock the Attakopas Rangers, under command of Capt. Cade, together with a posse of citizens, parity of this neighborhood and partiy from Franklin, moved on the town. At the entrance they found a crowd of from fifty to one hunhred excited negroes assembled. The crowd was ordered to disperse, and some of them lell, while others remained and assumed a defiant attitute. One negro of notorious character threw his hand behind him as if to draw a pistol, and then a regular fusitade was opened upon the negroes by the Sheriffs' posse which accompanied the troops, and four of them were shot dead.

Manager Robertson. "These rats have got togo."

"Where's my cosmetic?" called out Osmond Tearle a few minutes later.

"I'm sure I don't know," mournfully answered the stage manager. "I'll get Mr. Flannery to look for it.

Master of Costumes Flannery found the cosmetic near a rat hole in a corner, and Mr. Tearle finished making up.

The rats have become very bold at Wallack's during the past fortnight and fourteen guillotine traps are now in use. A night or two ago thirty rats were captured, but there does not seem to be any diminution of them. Rose Coghlan has a national reputation for being afraid of rats and mice, but fortunately for her the pests seem to devote themselves for her the pests seem to devote themselves solely to the actors' dressing rooms which are on the third floor above the stage. How, the rodents got at Mr. Ward's boots has puzzled the company, for the boots were suspended from a hook on the wall. Mr. Robertson reasons that the rats climbed on the dressing bureau, thence walked up the legs of a pair of trousers, crossed from them on a coat, and thus triumphantly reached the That these rats are up to snuff is very plain, for after one rat was caught in the jaws of the trap last week two of his friends came around and peacefully ate up the cheese with which the trap was baited.

It has caused much surprise that a building so new as Wallack's Theatre should con tain so many rats to the square inch.

AN EX-CONVICT'S CANVASS. Joe Murphy Working the Gambling Hells

for Col. Fellows. An interesting and instructive illustration of the methods employed by the boodle bosses in furthering the interests of Col. Fellows is furnished in the case of Joe Murphy, an ex-convict and saloon-keeper at 101 West Twenty-seventh street, who has just served a term of two and a half years for grand larceny. Murphy was appointed Inspector larceny. Murphy was appointed Inspector of Election some time ago through Police Justice Ford, who bosses the district, but on Friday last he was withdrawn because it was thought that his services might be more valuable in working the Fellows boom.

He is now working outside, and his services consist in visiting the various salcons and gambling places, and there are plenty of them in the Nineteenth Precinct, and promising the proprietors that if they will use their influence in favor of Fellows it will be all right, and that he is authorized to make this promise by the insiders.

This is the precinct of Capt. Reilly, who, as is well known, is also working for Fellows. Murphy came into public prominence several years years ago by a dastardly assault which he made upon a bootblack, setting two bulldogs upon him and smashing his head with a billiard cue.

A Card from Mr. Nicoll.

Editor of The Evening World: The silly, malicious and unfounded stories oncerning my past professional conduct in certain instances, and upon my family and ancestry, which appear in an obscure sheet conducted by one William Dorsheimer, and called the Star, are to be accounted for as follows:

The paper in question has been a con istent defender of the defendants in all the boodle trials. It has never missed an opportunity to attack the prosecution as well as the Judge who presided. During the fortnight when the Cleary case was awaiting trial, William Dorsheimer, the editor of the paper in question, sent a gentleman to me whom I greatly respect. The gentleman told me he had come from Dorsheimer; that Dorsheimer wanted me to put off the trial of Cleary, or, if possible, to try any of the other pending cases before Cleary; that if I would do as he requested I could command his political and journalistic services on any occasion when I might need them. I replied that I did not care for his services. either journalistic or political, and that would not deviate from the plan of conducting the boodle prosecution which I had mapped out for his or any other person's support, either journalistic, political, social or otherwise. FOUNDERED IN A HURRICANE

THRILLING EXPERIENCE OF THE CREW OF THE AMERICAN BRIG OSSEO.

Their Vessel Wrecked at You, the Men Give Themselves Up for Lost-A Saller Tries to Jump Overboard From Despair-Thirty-Six Hours in a Hurricano-Rescued Just

The German ship Camelia arrived at Tompkinsville this morning bringing in the crew of the American brig Osseo, which met with a hurricane last Tuesday night and foundered. The Osseo, in command of John Stevens, and a crew of eight men left this port on Saturday, Oct. 3, with a cargo of general merchandise consigned to Gordon, Grane & Co., Port of Spain, Trinidad.

On the following Tuesday, where in latitude 36 and longitude % a hurricane was encountered which lasted for more than thirty-six house, The Osseo withstood the hurricane until Late Tuesday, when a heavy northeaster struck her and broke the mainmast twenty feet from the deck. The seams in the forward part of the vessel opened and the water rushed into her hold. Then a great wave struck her which washed everything off the deck and carried two of the sailors with it. Another wave carried them back on the vessel, and they clung to the rigging, when they were rescued by their shipmates.

At midnight on Tuesday another heavy wind from the northeast struck the vessel and carried away the jib-boom, bowsprit and part of the foremast. The crew part of the foremast. at work at the pumps trying get the water out of the hold, but with little result, as the water poured in quicker than it was pumped out. the pumps were of no avail, the captain stopped the pumps and hoisted a signal of distress on the remaining mast.

Early on Wednesday morning another heavy wind struck the vessel and carried away both of the small boats, leaving the crew alone on the deck of their vessel, which was rapidly filling with water and liable to sink at any moment at the mercy of the hurricane. Several of the men were partially disabled and both mates were powerless. ricane. Several of the men we disabled and both mates were having injured their arms in the first hur-

The vessel was tossed on the ocean by every wave, answering to the rudder until about 2 p. M. Wednesday, when a sailor sighted a sail far away on the ocean, which was passing. The crew of the sinking vessel signalled and awaited patiently. It was at first thought that the signals were not seen on the passing sailing vessel, and one of the seaman became so discouraged that he attempted to jump into the sea, but was restrained by the rest of the crew. Luckily the crew of the passing vessel saw the signals and answered them. When the vessel got near enough, she tried to put about to the rescue of the sinking brig's crew, but the boat was tossed high in the air by the waves and filled with water. It sank at once. The occupants of the boat barely escaped with their lives.

A second attempt was made, and it proved successful. The boat made its way to the Osseo and took off the crew. The ship was found to be the German ship Camelia bound to this port. The injuries of the mates and the several seamen were attended to, and the Camelia kept on her course. Late Wednesday night the Osset was seen to sink. The effects of the captain and the crew went down with her, nothing being saved but the clothes that they wore.

The shipwrecked crew came from Tompkinsville to this city this morning, where the agents of the Osseo, Ann Swan & Co., of 66 South street, took charge of them. Capt. Stevens is very thankful to the captain of the Osmelia and says that all hands would have been drowned had it not been for him. The vessel was tossed on the ocean by every

The woman denied this. She said that the man jumped up and caucht hold of her as she was passing by, and that when he got to the Mercer street station he said that two colored men had stolen his watch. Officer Armstrong corroborated the latter part of the prisoner statement. The Justice said that Seymour was too drunk to know who had robbed him if he had been robbed. The prisoner was discharged, whereupon the complainant became abusive. Justice Patterson ordered a complain of disorderly conduct against him, and fined him $10.

At this precise moment there is only one fact to ook at-namely, that in the natural order of promotion Mr. De Lancey Nicoll would get the nomination for the vacant District-Attorneyship, but certain politicians have determined that he shall not have it because he has done his duty to the peofore the Flap.
